

Applying your skills for community impact

Community Business Forum

employee
volunteering

Certified

Corporation

Share your skills to empower your community partners

Your business holds multiple skills that non-for-profit organisations are crying out for as they deal with the challenges of running their organisation. You and your colleagues may hold the key to charity success, sharing your business skills, expertise and experience, creating a massive impact for beneficiaries and enabling them to deliver more

80%

Of charities face increased demand for their services compared to a year ago.

Charities Aid Foundation 2025

63%

Of charities report skills shortages in digital and data related areas hindering innovation and service improvement

Charity Aid Foundation 2025

45%

Of charities can't meet their current overheads

Pilotlight, 2025

56%

Of charities are struggling to recruit and retain suitably qualified staff and volunteers

UK Small Charity Sector Skills Survey, 2025

40%

Of charities say they are poor at digital fundraising

CivilSociety Report 2025

78%

Of charities are unprepared for AI opportunities and challenges

CivilSociety Report 2025

How to use your skills in corporate volunteering

In our Community Business Forums, volunteers and beneficiaries work together to identify and address key challenges, putting forward ideas on workable solutions that will generate the greatest impact and creates a programme of future skills based volunteering.

Finance expertise

Assistance with budgeting, financial planning and accounting plus access to finance makes a huge impact.

Marketing and communications

Crafting compelling messages and engaging designs to websites and shaping stakeholder outreach these skills amplify visibility and reach.

HR consulting

Providing guidance on recruitment, training and organisational development makes a real difference.

Technology support

Employees with tech and IT skills can help non profits resolve IT issues or develop custom software solutions

AI expertise

In many roles, AI is part of our daily lives and we have powerful learnings to share with beneficiaries

Community Business Forum (CBF)

Skills based volunteering

Our Community Business Forums help you provide charities with invaluable skills that will help them create greater social impact, as well as kick start relationships with your charities of choice.

What can you expect?

- Fully facilitated by a trained, experienced EV CBF expert
- Proven EV Community Business Model Canvas methodology
- Volunteers and beneficiaries work together to identify and address key challenges
- Teams of up to 12, taking around 2 ½ hours
- Delivered remotely or face to face
- Beneficiaries leave inspired and armed with multiple ideas to support their growth
- Volunteers are exposed to new challenges, team building opportunities and get a great sense of achievement and impact delivered
- You can focus on charities that fit your corporate purpose and/ or from your local communities

Interested in using your skills to create community impact?

Call us now to explore our community business forums

EmployeeVolunteering.com

+44 (0)1256 393690

employee
volunteering

